

It's important to monitor your child over the two days and nights after their EEG. Sleep deprivation can increase the risk of experiencing a seizure.

Arranging a lift will avoid you having to drive home when you may be extremely tired.

- If you want to avoid making the journey home immediately after the EEG, booking a nearby hotel could be a great reward after a long night.
- Now that the EEG is complete, we will send the results to your child's doctor who will contact you to discuss any further steps.
